

Active Perception: The past, present and the future

By

Ruzena Bajcsy

EECS Department, UC Berkeley

Abstract

In this presentation, I will review the original motivation behind introducing the paradigm in the 80s of Active Perception, what we have accomplished

The present state of the art and where I see the future, that is how to connect Perception/Action with Information Theory.